Global & Korea Air Cargo Trends

after a swift decline the global air freight market seems to have stabilized

2020 Global Air Cargo Demand and Capacity YoY

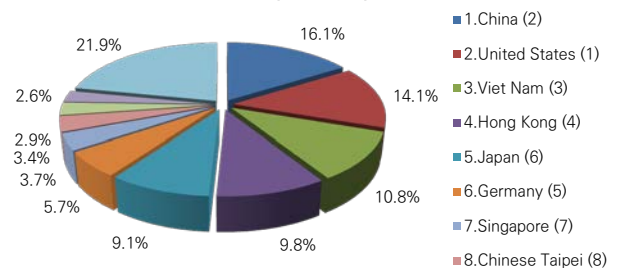

When the status of a patient submitted into hospital is described as 'stable' it often means that they are not well at all, but that, for the time being, their condition is not getting worse. The same diagnosis can be applied to the current state of the air cargo market.

This reduction in cargo demand is being overcome by the reduction in capacity supply, and the demand for cargo to be transported is still higher than the capacity supplied. However, the air cargo industry is expected to fluctuate more uncertainly.[CLIVE Data Service]
