Global and Korean Air Cargo Trends

Global air cargo demand on the up but with regional variances

Air cargo demand continues to track in line with 2019 levels but regional performance is mixed, according to WorldACD.

Worldwide chargeable weight development
Jan 2019 - May 2021

The data provider's latest numbers show that air cargo demand in chargeable weight was in May around 1% below 2019 levels — used for comparison given Covid's impact in 2020 — and over the course of the first five months is roughly in line with two years ago. But while volumes were in May up on 2019 levels in Asia Pacific (8%), central and south America (5%) and North America (3%), they were down in Europe (-8%), Middle East and South Asia (-20%) and Africa (-7%).

Rates meanwhile continued to surge compared with two years ago in all regions — although to varying degrees — due to lost capacity and were up by 77% overall.

Status of CASS air cargo tonnage ex Korea in May

Demand for air cargo ex Korea showed a relatively similar decline last month compared to last year. As capacity supply fell below market expectations, air freight rates rose for 2 months in a row so many small and medium-sized shippers are complaining about difficulties in logistics and price hikes.

In May, Korea exported the most air cargo by CASS country to China, followed by the United States, Vietnam, and Germany, and the top 10 countries accounted for 78.6% of the total.
